

Marnie's Prioritization Calculator

It's often easy to see what needs to be done and in what order. But when facing a huge project, or multiple projects that appear similar in value, I use this calculation to help me identify where to invest and when:

Results / Investment = Priority

Divide the results by the investment to arrive at your priorities.

I'm always praying for guidance. I use this calculator only after prayer has left me unclear. I also pause after doing the calculations, to pray for peace. I've found that the least likely looking thing is sometimes God's #1 priority for me.

Bottom line: I use Colossians 3:15 to help me know what to do.

Let the peace of Christ [that inner calm we find walking with God] be the controlling factor in your hearts. [Let peace decide and settle all questions that arise]. To this peace indeed you were called as members in one body [of believers]. And be thankful [to God always].
